Minh Haeusler is a native of Viet Nam, who spent her youth in Australia and studied Literature and Modern Languages in Belgium. Minh mastered the art of Ikebana in Singapore and Hong Kong and now teaches and gives seminars all over the world. Minh received her training from the Sogetsu School and developed her own style in Europe. She combines traditional Ikebana with her own unmistakable style. She says, "I release the flower from its traditional role in Ikebana and allow it to interact with materials such as copper, metal and even everyday objects to create a modern, aesthetic impact."

Minh is the author of The Fusion of Flora and Art, a photography book with Flora as the medium. Carefully composed and photographed by Minh herself, more than 200 Ikebana creations are showcased, with various styles and philosophy of Ikebana. The photographs are stunningly beautiful.

Minh is a member of Ikebana International and works as a freelance artist in Zurich, Switzerland and Naples, Florida.
